Louise Fagan

Louise Fagan is a Producer and Capacity Builder whose work has its heart in bringing authentic voices to the public sphere. Louise's credits include Producer/Director of the Opening/Closing Ceremonies of the Canada Games, Founding Producer of the Bach Music Festival of Canada and numerous productions such as Revelations in Spartanburg. Her unique expertise in developing and sharing Women's stories has brought her most rewarding experiences including an Off Broadway production in NYC and the National Museum of Women in the Arts in Washington DC leading to a feature in O the Oprah Magazine. Whether in a large stadium with a cast of 100's or in a recording studio with a single artist, Louise's numerous projects are woven with story, building engagement between organizations and the community. Louise has an adult son Nathaniel in London, Ontario and daughter Gillian in Montreal, Canada. With her husband Michael Hew, Louise moved South Carolina 5 years ago and has loved getting to know the incredible community of strong women who are guiding Spartanburg to its fullest potential.
