Nancy Corbin

Nancy Corbin, artist, arts educator and coordinator, was born in Ohio and moved to Spartanburg, South Carolina in 1976 with her husband Mike as they started a family and each began their budding career in artistic fields. Both became teachers, though they continued pursuing their personal interests. Mike became a photographer while Nancy has cultivated her love for painting.

Nancy studied at the Toledo Museum of Art, Banff School of Fine Arts, the University of Cincinnati (BFA), the University of South Carolina (MA), Arrowmont School of Arts and Crafts, Hemlock Studios, New York University (Certificate of Arts Administration), Ringling College of Art and Design, Savannah College of Art and Design, and Converse College.

After teaching in Spartanburg County School District 7 for 14 years, Nancy joined the Spartanburg Day School visual arts faculty in 1991 and taught students a range of subjects from Studio Art to Art History from introductory levels through Advanced Placement. While at SDS she was awarded the Mildred Harrison Dent Endowed Chair, a position she held until she moved on at the conclusion of 27 years at the school.

Nancy is currently working in her studio at Mayfair Lofts on paintings to be exhibited in the Nita Milliken Art Gallery at Converse College during February 2020. The exhibit at Converse will be one event in a series of a celebrations focusing attention on the 200th birthday of Susan B. Anthony (born February 15, 1820) and the 100th anniversary of the 19th Amendment (ratified August 18, 1920).
